

Helios & Matheson bags Hughes and Sasken orders

Chennai: IT services company Helios & Matheson on Monday said it has been chosen by telecom software firms Hughes Software Systems and Sasken Communications for developing advanced technology service for embedded systems and wireless technology. With this, the Chennai-based Helios & Matheson has added two more contracts to its growing list of telecom clients which include Cisco, Samsung and Tata Elxi, a company statement said. "This is a proof of our ability to build thought leadership and technology competencies in the areas of wireless, broadband and embedded systems. This firmly establishes our offering as a top class solution in the telecom space," chairman, Helios & Matheson, V Ramachandiran, said. Bolstered by its strong performance, the company had planned an aggressive growth to usd 100 million in revenue through organic growth complimented by a focused acquisition strategy.

PTI